

Don't let germs become the class pet

Arming your school with the supplies they need to keep a clean environment is an important role in the prevention of cold and flu viruses among kids and staff. Stopping the spread of germs is the first line of defense to help keep classrooms healthy every day.

Promote washing or sanitizing hands often.

Keep surfaces clean by regularly disinfecting surfaces and objects.

Encourage kids to cough or sneeze into elbow or tissue.

Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth. Germs spread this way.¹
